RANDALL AT WORK

CONGRESSMAN IS TRYING TO MAKE IMPROVEMENTS IN THE MAIL DELIVERY

Congressman Randall is a busy man these days. In addition to the numerous routine demands on his time, he is constantly called on to be president of societies and gatherings, such as the Prohibition picnic, to be held in Sycamore grove Saturday, and of the Anti-Cigarette society, which picnics on the same day and at the same place.

Meanwhile Mr. Randall is working in connection with the free delivery system of the postoffice to have an extension of that system to all sections in this district that have not as yet participated in its benefits. Los Angeles post office is making its annual inspection of all free delivery routes in this district. It makes this general inspection every year, and the present is the proper time for sections hitherto omitted to make application in order to have their localities included.

In the course of a visit to The Glendale Evening News Wednesday, Congressman Randall said that he would like to intimate through the columns of this paper that if there are any settlements on the border of Glendale that are at present omitted from the rural free delivery system and are apparently entitled to that privilege, he would advise them to proceed at once in the regular way to obtain the privilege.

The first step in this direction is to get up a petition from all the inhabitants of the section asking for free delivery service. Then they must prepare a map of the neighborhood which desires the service, showing its extent and its boundaries. Attached to this map must be a list of the families in the section sending the petition.

When these necessary exhibits have been prepared they should be sent to Congressman Randall at Highland Park. The congressman will then see that the petition is put into the proper hands and that favorable action, if possible, is taken on it.

Mr. Randall has been traveling over his district for some time now, getting in touch with the people and seeking to understand their needs and desires. In the course of his journeyings he has seen a large number of his constituents and has been instrumental in assisting some of them in important matters. He has been making special inquiries with a view to obtaining extensions of the rural service wherever needed.

Just at present he has been working on the extension of the service to Ownsmouth, and says that there is an excellent prospect that the free delivery will be extended over the greater portion of the west end of the valley. Mr. Randall was in the postal service himself at one time, and is well acquainted with its routine and with all the steps necessary to take to get whatever improvements are possible for any section. Since he has become a congressman mail delivery has become a hobby with him.

NOT A BAD PLATFORM

Mayor Lindsay (mayor for a day last week) was asked for a schedule of reform measures that she favored, and promptly replied:

"Under the present conditions the mayor's hands are practically tied. But if I were able to establish my own ideas of municipal government I would name the following as those which I would immediately inaugurate:

"Place the tin-tag ordinance in effect.

"Make work for the unemployed by having the city do its own paving.

"Abolish the city jail and provide a city farm for prisoners.

"Light the streets and operate the public utilities with aqueduct power.

"Establish a blacklist for drunkards and refuse to permit the saloons to sell them liquor.

"Establish schools for poor mothers.

"Establish the single-tax system.

"Put the loan sharks out of business.

"Enlarge the number of city free milk depots."

City conditions would be vastly improved by the adoption of most of these reform suggestions. S. P.

BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLE

VOICES IN THE AIR

HUBERT WOODS, WIRELESS EXPERIMENTER, CATCHES A SERENADE

Music in the air! Voices mysteriously sounding on the startled ear of night! Heard faintly and dimly, as though from some distant sphere, and yet of earthly character sufficient to stamp them as Victrola records—such was the startling experience of Hubert Woods, a youthful wireless experimenter, who lives at 1222 Milford street.

While tuning his wireless apparatus to different wave lengths Tuesday night about 9 o'clock, young Woods, who is a diligent high school student, intensely interested in telegraphy and telephony of the wireless order, was surprised to hear musical sounds. At first the sound waves conveyed no meaning, but after Woods had tuned his instrument closely he began to understand that what he was hearing was a Victrola grinding out its music in some wireless station in Los Angeles.

"Although coming by wireless, the telephone music was quite clear, and I could make out the different songs," said young Woods to a Glendale Evening News representative. "I could make out the different songs. Among them were: 'It's a Long, Long Way to Tipperary,' 'Just a Little Love, a Little Kiss,' 'Everyone Was Laughing When He Said Good-by,' and many others.

"Although I have had a wireless station for two years, this is the first time I have actually heard a wireless telephone. My station is in good order for telegraphic signals, but it will stand improvement. My aerial is 45 feet high and 55 feet long, and I can hear signals and messages from San Francisco and San Diego. I very frequently receive messages from Mare Island, from the government station there. Sometimes I get messages from vessels at sea. The regular time messages from San Francisco and San Diego I always get.

"I manufactured my first instruments myself, and from time to time I have been improving them, getting better instruments and new parts. I picked up the code myself. At first I was not able to send very fast, but now I can send quite well. I am not very good as yet at receiving; that is to say, I am not fast enough, but I improve every day.

"I hope soon to add the new De Forest audion detector to my outfit. That will enable me to receive all signals several times as loud as I am able to get them at present. This work, or rather amusement, for it is so to me, is very fascinating. With a more powerful station one could keep in touch with almost everything that is going on along the coast from south in Mexico to as far north as Seattle. I believe the station I heard from on Tuesday night must have been that of Earl Hanson in Los Angeles. I will write to him for verification and I hope to hear a similar evening serenade before long."

HIS PEN "STILL FLOPPIN"

The Henry (Illinois) Republican of recent date says: "Our old-time fellow-citizen, Samuel Parker, is writing an occasional column of 'Parkerettes' for the Glendale (Calif.) Daily News. The paragraphs are pungent, full of snap, timely and applicable. Though 84 years of age, he utters words of wisdom and he devotes much time for the good of the reading public."

(Mr. Parker lived in Henry during the Civil war, and wrote extensively for several papers in the central part of the state. He was a member of the State Editorial association for over 20 years.)

CURING THE CANADIAN

AMERICAN HOSPITAL OF LONDON TAKES CARE OF 500
PATIENTS

Much has been said of the famous American hospital of Paris, but little is known of the "American Hospital of London."

In the Duchess of Connaught's Canadian Red Cross hospital at Cliven Wood, on the Thames, scores of nurses and 42 doctors from Canadian and American cities care for the Canadian "Indians" as they come wounded and torn from the battlefields across the channel. There are tennis, golf, billiards and quoits for the convalescent and the true Canadian idea of food, fresh air and laughter to condition the wounded men again for the ever-raging struggle from which they came. Patients are fed on fresh eggs, plump chickens and jam and biscuits direct from Canada. They are given the open air treatment as soon as possible, and most any day can be found a fleet of rolling beds flanking a football field near-by, where simon-pure Canadian football is the order.

The new hospital, which is being enlarged to care for 500 patients, is regarded as a model of hospitals in England. It is equipped with light, airy operating rooms, medical and surgical stores, laboratories and X-ray rooms, embracing all the latest in medical science.

"It makes you homesick for Canada," said one Canadian recruit today. He got it in the leg in France, and with two crutches he was playing football, his chief desire being to kick the ball with his injured leg.

The finest traveling hospital in the world is somewhere in France today. Known as the "Princess Christian hospital train," it was built from subscriptions solicited by the sister of the late King Edward, who provided a similar equipment, though smaller, during the Boer war.

Every requirement necessary for the care of 400 desperately wounded soldiers is provided in eight coaches of the 700-foot conveyance. Six additional carriages provide lounging quarters for the sick and slightly wounded on their way to base hospitals from the front. Several coaches are equipped with beds, a kitchen, lockers, hot and cold water and electric and gas appliances, including illumination.

Another affords sleeping accommodations for nurses and doctors, while another is a complete operating room. Hundreds of details throughout the moving hospital are supplied from the latest knowledge of hospital and surgical supplies. If necessary it can be sidetracked at an isolated way station near a battle front and employed as a stationary hospital. A joint committee of the leading railways of France and England superintended the construction of the train at Birmingham.

BELGIAN COUNTESS IN JAIL

Mail advices from Ghent, Belgium, tell that Germans sentenced Countess Dejongh Dardoye, aged 16, to three months' imprisonment recently. She was walking in Ghent with her grandmother and both were wearing medals with King Albert's picture. A German officer tore the medals from them, saying: "Away with that king without a country!"

The young countess picked up the medals and answered hotly: "We Belgians prefer a king without a country to an emperor without honor." She was immediately arrested and subsequently sentenced by court-martial.

LADIES' AID PICNIC

One of the most enjoyable picnics of the season was that held in Verdugo park Tuesday by the Ladies' Aid society of the First Methodist church. Tables were laid with snowy linen under the umbrageous green of the shady sycamores. The usual varied and delicious viands which characterize the gathering together of these ladies were enjoyed. There was a short business session and a flower contest. Speeches of an appropriate character concluded a happy day.

REAL DOGS OF WAR

ITALY'S DOGS PLAYING IMPORTANT PART IN STRUGGLE ON FRONTIER

ROME, Aug. 22 (By mail).—Reno is a real dog of war—not one of those symbolical dogs of war which typify the destructive onslaught of conflicting enemies. Yet Reno has done some pretty strenuous work against the enemy and as a result he is wearing a medal about his neck suspended by a tri-color ribbon.

Reno saved his master, Lieutenant Cadore, in a hand-to-hand combat in Cadore. In consequence he is the pet of the regiment.

Italy's dogs are playing an important part in the fierce struggle that is going on at the frontier. Austria has mobilized her canine soldiers with great success, and today when dog meets dog in those mountainous confines of Italy's old provinces there are conflicts which would make dog history for all time.

The Italian war dogs are largely mastiffs. Reno is a big white "molosso" (mastiff), and is typical of all these faithful four-footed soldiers. The dogs are turned loose, unleashed from the trenches and go forth scouting, beating about in the brush and woods and scenting the enemy's approach. When it happens that they run afoul of Austrian dog scouts doing similar duty, there is warfare of the wildest kind. Fierce and bloody it lasts till one of them has given his life for his country.

The Italian war dogs are perfectly trained. They follow the columns on the march. When a conflict occurs the dogs become half mad with ferocity, baying and jumping and leaping as though they would tear the enemy to pieces.

Reno, following the column one day beside his beloved master, saw a hand-to-hand combat between the Italian officer and an Austrian. The officer was struggling bravely, but it was due to Reno that he was saved. Leaping at the Austrian's throat, the mastiff dragged him to the ground, piercing his jugular vein with his sharp teeth.

From that day on Reno has never left his lieutenant. He sleeps with him and eats mess with him. When he is not in service he plays with the soldiers, deporting himself as any dog would who did not have a great world destiny hanging over his head.

The war dogs, besides scout duty and actual fighting, are of especial use in the Italian campaigning, for they carry flasks about their necks and in the mountain passes are first aid to many an injured Alpine soldier.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1915

THREE MILLION CITIZEN SOLDIERS

Lord Kitchener in the house of Lords this week made the statement that 3,000,000 men had volunteered for the war in Great Britain and her dominions. That is a very large number and shows that whatever may be said about the British people in regard to supineness they have not manifested any such disposition during the war. It would tax even the mighty resources of the United States to put such an army into the field. As might be expected it is being found much more difficult to equip these men than to enlist them.

What the lesson for the United States is in all this is merely preparedness. It takes at least a year to manufacture soldiers out of citizens but the United States has unlimited numbers on which to draw, and will probably work out some such plan as that adopted by Australia or Switzerland for an army of defense. What is more difficult is to manufacture enough ammunition to carry on a war of defense and to manufacture the big guns necessary to cope with modern artillery that is now constructed to fire a distance of twenty-seven miles with accuracy. These are matters, however, that are now being carefully looked into and the land is reaping the benefit of the publicity given to its preparations abroad, in the increasing foreign deference being paid it.

COLOR SCHEME FOR STREETS

There is no reason under the sun why the streets of a city like Glendale should not be veritable bowers of beauty all the year round. The city has already taken a good step in this direction by enacting an ordinance that provides for the cleaning up of city lots now disfigured by crops of weed. The next step to take is to secure co-operation among lot owners so that lots could be planted with flowers that would constantly be in bloom throughout the flowering seasons, and in autumn would present a continual array of brilliant foliage, berries and colored branches.

It would not be very difficult to distribute the flowers in such a manner that every part of the streets would seem to be always in bloom. The autumn and winter interests could be distributed in similar fashion. Each lot would present several periods of bloom, which could be helped out by the neighbors' bloom or be offset by the foliage of neighboring shrubs.

In the cities of California such a plan should be capable of being worked without any great trouble. The open winters give the people of this favored state much more range of flower cultivation than eastern states possess; and what more beautiful sight could be seen in any city than the vacant lots brilliant with poinsettias and other winter blooming plants and flowers; while the ever-green of the groves would afford a pleasing contrast.

It is as easy to grow spreas, dogwoods, hydrangeas, elders and other presentable shrubs and plants on the lots as to flaunt such luxurious crops of weeds before the eyes of the public and of visitors, as are at present to be seen growing in marvelous profusion in so many lots.

There is ample room in Glendale for the adorning of the lots on the streets. Already one can see how immensely improved any section or street is by the cultivation of large lawns, large trees and by the boundary planting enclosing the lawns. Each lot should be the subject of individual treatment depending on its size and situation; but if some such treatment could be given each one there would not be a city in the state equal to Glendale in beauty.

UPS AND DOWNS OF THE WAR

How apt is the ancient phrase, "the fortunes of war" is being made manifest in what is going on in Russian Poland and Galicia at the present moment. If anything were needed to demonstrate the marvelous recuperative capacity of the Russians it can be seen in their present achievement after having been driven from one position to another during the past four months. It could never have been imagined for a moment that the armies that were victorious in the beginning over both Austrians and Germans could have been deprived of the fruits of those victories except by some deficiency beyond their control.

It has now been clearly demonstrated that the deficiency is the lack of ammunition. Brave to a fault, the well-disciplined forces of the Czar, when supplied with ample means to resist the Germans and Austrians had little difficulty in doing so. Then came a time when the lack of ammunition began to be felt. In the face of such a deficiency the bravest troops could do nothing. They found themselves in the trenches, battered and shattered by an overwhelming artillery force, supplied with all the ammunition needed for its work, and compelled to endure that iron hail without being able to make any reply. Again and again they stormed the trenches of the Germans with nothing but their bayonets only to be thrown back broken and furious with rage, but not beaten. No army is beaten that retires slowly with its face to the foe as often as it can face about and withdraws with the greater mass of its numbers intact and with most of its guns and munitions.

That has been the extraordinary history of the past four months. The strongest forts on the Russian frontier have succumbed to the German artillery fire or been surrendered by a handful of defenders after a mere semblance of resistance. Meanwhile inquiries were being made in Russia as to the meaning of this sudden change in the aspect of the war. It was discovered that before the war had broken out, the Germans had by means of spies blown up several important Russian munitions factories and thus crippled the output of ammunition for the soldiers in the field. It was also found that by intrigue of the German faction in the court the output of ammunition had been delayed and even the purchase of ammunition from the allies held back because of the unequaled corruption of this German and pro-German court faction, which insisted on having a rake-off of at least ten per cent on all purchases made abroad.

Roused by the repeated forcing back of his armies by the Germans the Czar himself has taken the field and strenuous efforts are being made to get the Russians supplied with the indispensable ammunition for the artillery and troops in the trenches. Even the Japanese are exerting themselves in a very extraordinary fashion to manufacture ammunition for Russia and the allies.

Immediately that the Russians have been supplied even to a small extent with ammunition they have turned on their eagerly advancing foes and have held them in check, both in Galicia and Russian Poland. The Russians have recently made several important captures of troops and guns from the Germans, which is indicative of the reality of the defeat the Austro-German forces have sustained. Naturally the Germans are still in a strong and threatening position in their advance on Riga, the Russian Baltic port; but the rainy weather is coming on and advancing is becoming more difficult every day.

LA CANADA MEETS

VALLEY ASSOCIATION HAS BIG AND REPRESENTATIVE GATHERING OF ITS MEMBERS

With the first two weeks of September past La Canada found a large number of its residents back from various vacations. The activity that characterized social life before the summer vacation began is now resumed and the Valley association in common with the rest of the activities of the district partook of the general revival. When the association met, Saturday, September 11, the hall was filled with an interested and happy gathering, which welcomed back to its midst its chairman and others who had been away.

The Rev. Dr. Brooks, chairman of the association occupied the chair and expressed his pleasure at being back again in the valley after a visit to the northern section of the state about Bakersfield, where the weather was much warmer than on the pleasant slopes of the Sierras. He also expressed his pleasure at seeing so large a gathering and then desired the secretary, Mr. Granger, to read the minutes of the previous meeting.

When the minutes had been read and approved the chairman called on the executive committee to give in its report on the matter of the by-laws of the society. The committee's report was postponed from last meeting and there was some natural desire on the part of the members to hear the result of the deliberation of the executive members. The report gave a full discussion of the various points in which the by-laws were lacking and concluded with a recommendation that the entire laws be changed and condensed. The report was accepted but it was ascertained that any change that was desired to be made in the laws must be taken up only after a full two weeks' notice had been given. It was therefore agreed to take up the matter at the next meeting of the association.

There being no further business the chairman opened the entertainment of the evening by introducing Prof. Carson of the Pasadena High School to the audience, informing them that Prof. Carson had made special efforts to introduce into the schools visual education, a method of instruction that was certain to become highly popular and valuable as time went on and its value came to be realized.

Prof. Carson then told the audience of what is being done to introduce "Visual Education" into the public schools. He explained that visual education meant teaching by means of moving pictures. The immense value of this system of education at once recommended itself to everyone, he explained, because it was just like travel or like actual experiment in the laboratory or the workshop.

In the pictures that were used in the public schools every department of knowledge came into view. Flowers were seen growing; animals in their native haunts; peoples of different nations in the daily avocations. Thus geography, with the life and work of the cities and the different lands was brought home in a manner no black and white geography could present it. Even chemistry would be taught in this manner and the marvelous effects of such a product as liquid gas could be shown in a thousand schools at once.

Much other interesting matter was presented by Prof. Carson and the audience paid him the compliment of listening with profound attention and interest.

Miss Brown of Los Angeles then sang several songs for which she was heartily applauded. She was accompanied by Mr. Cuthbert of Alhambra with rare taste and charm.

After the evening's entertainment was over cake and ice cream were served and a pleasant social time enjoyed.

SUNLAND AND LITTLELANDS

Among the visitors at the Monte Vista Park hotel since Mrs. H. Brandstetter, the owner of the house, has taken active management, have been Mr. and Mrs. Steger of Los Angeles, Peter Powlowski of Lankershim, Dr. G. M. Ellingsworth of Los Angeles and S. H. Goldstein of Glendale. Mrs. Grace Nollenberger and child of Hinkley, Cal., arrived at this popular hostelry Wednesday of this week to make a two months' stay in Monte Vista.

Mrs. Fairfield of Stephen's way visited in Los Angeles last Monday returning in the evening.

Mr. aGeorge I. Maxwell, who lectures at the town meeting every Friday evening will give a talk on bees tonight, Friday.

Mrs. George Buch of Los Robles avenue is reported to be recovering from her recent serious illness as rapidly as could be expected.

Mrs. Clara Noyes returned from an outing at Pasadena and the beach last Saturday morning. In the evening she entertained informally for a few friends.

The Bee Club of Littlelands is fully organized and is arranging plans for cooperation which when fully worked out will be given to the public.

The plan of the stage line for meeting the electric cars at La Crescenta are not yet fully matured, however, for the present the stage meets the evening car at about 6:30 o'clock.

Mr. Hartranft and Mr. Edward Greenfield of the Western Empire Suburban Farms association made a trip to Los Angeles last Tuesday in the interest of their company.

Misses Margaret and Genevra Lang of Monta Vista boulevard, Miss Alice Green of Pine street and Miss Edna May VanBatum of Cedar street are the students attending High school from Littlelands this year.

The Christian Scientists have decided to meet Sunday evening at five o'clock instead of at 5:30 as announced at the town meeting. They extend an invitation to any who may be pleased to attend.

Mr. C. H. Clark of San Ysidro road representing the board of trade met with the high school board Tuesday afternoon to confer with them regarding the transportation of the high school students from Monte Vista valley.

Miss Alcy Case, accompanied by her friend, Miss Julia Doughty, spent the week end in Littlelands, the guest of Miss Elizabeth Brissinden of San Ysidro road. Miss Doughty has been a teacher in the High school at Basin, Wyoming, until recently.

Mrs. Thomasson of Palm avenue and Hill street entertained a small company with a musicale at her home one evening last week. Those enjoying her hospitality were Mrs. Zachaw, Mrs. Noyes, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. I. Maxwell.

Last Saturday Dr. E. C. Moore, head surgeon at the California hospital, and Messrs. Loposwitch and Mitchell of Los Angeles, accompanied by Philip Bique and sons, Frank, Bert and Philip, Jr., left for Acton, Cal., where they will spend Sunday hunting for deer on Mt. Gleason in the vicinity of Deer Camp. At the start of the hunting season Leo Lang, Earl Sims, Otto Fehlbauer, and Frank, Bert and Philip Bique, sr., secured three deer on Mt. Gleason.

Mr. Hartranft, who has a small colony of bees located in a pretty little canyon on Lazy Lonesome ranch is having his hives overhauled and set in order by Mr. G. I. Maxwell who thoroughly understands bees. Mr. Maxwell reports the hives to be in what he called a state of picturesque ruin. The bees had no attention whatever for years but have been allowed to follow their own "sweet" will with the above result. No doubt by the time Mr. Maxwell finishes his work on the colony everything will be in a completely sanitary and prosperous condition.

School Re-opens in Littlelands

The children were on hand bright and early Monday morning eager to begin their school work. The two teachers, Miss Salstrom and Miss Wilson, also arrived promptly, seemingly as eager as the children to begin. The work, of course, the first day could only be preliminary. The children assigned to their places, the equipment gone over and books distributed. Several little ones are enrolled as beginners. Tuesday morning everything was in full swing, the regular work proceeding as though the pupils had been at it a long time. We bespeak for both teachers and pupils a pleasant and profitable year's work and the hearty co-operation of all concerned in the community.

Littlelands to Have Canning Plant

Last Saturday evening a meeting was held at the Ashby store, the object of which was to consider the feasibility of establishing a cannery at Littlelands. It was decided to open a cannery in the near future and the following six men: Fred M. Ashby, P. J. Blake, E. Woodruff, Rev. W. H. Weiman, J. P. Rockey and George I. Maxwell have assured a guarantee fund to install the necessary apparatus needed in a first class canning outfit.

Mrs. Heald returned Monday of this week from San Diego where she had motored with relatives from Riverside. On their way down near Oceanside the party had the misfortune to have their machine overturn. Mrs. Heald's shoulder was very badly strained and she sustained severe bruises, but is now rapidly recovering.

YELLOW FROCKS

One of the most charming of the new frocks in cotton voile is a soft yellow tone dotted in black and white and decorated with a black and white checked silk sash. This is worn by a fair-haired girl, and a hat of white chip, wreathed with white and yellow daisies, completes the costume. Another yellow frock in the wardrobe of the same girl is a maize-tinted crepe de chine, the leghorn hat that is generally worn with it being covered with silk roses toning from maize to scarlet.—Indianapolis News.

Dr. Wm. T. Hornaday, director of the New York Zoological park, will give a free stereopticon lecture under the auspices of the State Audubon society on Sept. 22 at 8 p. m. in Blanchard's hall, Los Angeles, on "Shall We Increase Our Big Game on a Food Supply Basis?"

Mrs. George E. Adams, 1450 Ivy street, who returned home Tuesday night from a visit to the San Francisco fair, was entertained by her Sunday school class at lunch Wednesday night at 6 o'clock at the First Congregational church. A very pleasant evening was spent listening to Mrs. Adams' graphic story of the many things she saw at the fair.

Rev. Henry E. Rompel of "Rock River Conference," Illinois, was a recent Coast tourist doing the fairs. He was pastor of Centenary church, Chicago, when Samuel Parker left for the Coast four years ago, and side-rod to see his former parishioner. The meeting gave mutual pleasure. Rev. Rompel is now pastor at Belvidere, Ill., in a field of great and increasing usefulness.

Mrs. Harry Neel, jr., 1473 West Third street, who was so seriously ill some time ago that it was found necessary to remove her to the Sisters' hospital, Los Angeles, has returned to her home. An operation of rather a serious nature was performed on Mrs. Neel at the hospital Sept. 5. She is still confined to her bed, but the improvement in her condition is considerable enough to warrant expectation of her absolute recovery within a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. McRae, 1436 Salem street, entertained at dinner Wednesday evening the county rural work secretaries of the Y. M. C. A. The evening was pleasantly spent in intellectual amusement. Those present were Mr. E. M. Brown of Orange county, A. H. Maxwell, San Bernardino; C. A. Gummere and Bruce MacDonald of Los Angeles, Neil M. Locke of Imperial, Otis B. Read of Ventura, R. P. Anderson of Tulare, F. W. Douglass and Sidney Glass of Fresno.

Mrs. Mary W. Edwards and daughter, Miss Helen Beatrice Cooper, of the Cooper School of Music, removed to Los Angeles Thursday. Miss Cooper's work in Los Angeles has grown so much of late that she felt she must be on the spot to take care of it. Her recent appointment as teacher of voice culture in the Orange County Conservatory of Music, Santa Ana, has aided her in this determination to reside in Los Angeles. The Cooper School of Music will be closed, but the individual teachers will continue their work.

CITY TO PLANT TREES

Ten thousand shade trees will be planted along residence streets of Cleveland, Ohio, in 1916 under a new scheme for raising necessary funds proposed by city officials, says the Plain Dealer. City Clerk Richard E. Collins explained that under a recent ruling of the city law department special foot frontage assessments may be levied to defray the cost of planting trees, just as the cost of sewers, paving and sidewalks is paid.

LIFE IN BALANCE

(Special Service to Evening News, DEAL, N. J., Sept. 16.)—Newman Erb, the millionaire railway man, will not know till Sunday or Monday whether he will be saved from the effects of bichloride of mercury which he swallowed by mistake. He was conscious today, but not strong enough to move.

NORTH GLENDALE

Mrs. Le Roy Bradley of 1100 San Rafael street entertained with a children's party last Tuesday afternoon, in honor of her little son, Master Jack Bradley, who celebrated his third birthday on that date. The attractive home was beautifully decorated for the occasion, the chosen motif being pink dainty bouquets of Cecile Brunner roses intermingled with ferns, arranged throughout the living room, while in the dining room the same flowers with the ferns were suspended from the electroliers to the table, where a beautiful cut-glass bowl filled with the roses made a charming centerpiece, around which covers were laid for 20, and the place favors were tiny pink baskets filled with pink bonbons. Delicious ice cream, also pink in color, and the very important birthday cake, upon which were three pink candles; also assorted cakes and candies were served to the happy guests and a most delightful time was enjoyed by the following little folk and their adoring mammas, who assisted Mrs. Bradley in entertaining: Frank Griffith, Frank Bradley, Jr., Richard Peck and Sam Peck, all of Los Angeles, and Richard West, Ronald West, Dorothy West, Helen Dimick, Gerald West, Helen Keopke and Jane Swam, all of North Glendale. The ladies present included Mrs. Frank Bradley, Mrs. Griffith, Mrs. J. Swam, Mrs. F. Keopke, Mrs. Krasland, Mrs. Reilly, Mrs. Carleton E. West, Miss Ethyl West and Mrs. Le Roy Bradley.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Fryer, 1424 North Pacific avenue, entertained as house guests during the latter part of last week Mr. and Mrs. K. H. Dorsey, Lafayette square, Los Angeles. The Dorseys and the Fryers were old-time friends in Pomona, Cal.

HE WOULD NOT GO THAT WAY

Granger—"Good morning, Mr. Sendem. I need a little rest, and so I thought I'd take a trip away out south and west. More than a dozen years ago some relatives of mine moved 'way out there and settled quite near the Texas line. And with the grain all harvested, I am foot-loose and free. So if it don't cost over-much I'll go those friends to see."

Agent—"Ah, really, Mr. Granger, I'm glad you're out for rest. I can cheaply run you to any point south-west. And you will find our 'limited' put up exactly right to leave here in the morning, and land you in daylight. And so I'll fix a ticket for speed and comfort fine, and send you off rejoicing on the Central line."

Granger—"The Central line, the Central line! I think I heard you say. Not while I have my senses will I be sent that way. Unless a lost-out traveler to Purgatory bound, I would not send him through that state. Say, can't you send me round? Unless you can it's all off. My friends will have to wait; I'll never ride to see them down through that lawless state."

ALL ABOUT MICHIGAN PICNIC

The Michigan Association of Southern California will give this big general reunion picnic for all who ever lived in that state, in Sycamore grove, Los Angeles, Saturday, Sept. 18, 1915. It will be all day, basket dinner at noon, coffee free to all who buy the badges, but bring your own cup and spoon, and don't forget the dinner basket, either. Program will be after noon. Among the speakers will be Hon. Charles H. Randall, Judge Walter Bordwell, Dr. A. J. Scott, O. W. Blain and C. H. Parsons. There will be games and sports, races for the fats and the leans, for boys and for girls; potato races and lots of fun for all. It is a day of meeting old friends and making new ones. There are so many Michigan folks in Glendale that they will all want to attend and see who is here from the old home.

The officers of the association, which embraces all the Southland, are: President, Hon. O. W. Blain of Hollywood; vice-presidents, Samuel Young of Los Angeles, C. C. Brown of Pasadena, Mrs. Clara Middleton of Long Beach, Dr. G. P. Waring of Alhambra; secretary and treasurer, T. L. O'Brien of Los Angeles.

The Michigan association is one of the strongest organizations in the great Federation of State Societies and tries to make all the Wolverines who wander this way feel at home and glad to be in sunny Southern Cal.

CORPS OF EXPERTS AT HOME AND ABROAD WORKING ON U. S. SUBMARINES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Radical changes in the type of new submarines to be built for Uncle Sam's navy are being worked out by the chief naval constructor. Navy officials admitted today that some new wrinkles in submersibles probably would be adopted when congress authorizes the proposed new fleet of undersea craft which will represent the latest thought in such construction.

Especially attention is being given, Secretary Daniels states, to the question of submarine construction. A corps of experts, at home and abroad, are collecting information to be assimilated in the next new United States submarine.

Electric propulsion is the latest in submarines, according to the present determination of the naval constructors. It is probable that electric motors may be used exclusively in the future. Naval authorities also contemplate divesting the present fleet of submarines of gas engines and substituting electric power.

One difficulty in the way of United States naval progress in building submarines is the "patent monopoly" which confines this government to one type of submersible. This is the Lake type. While other types with some most desirable features are being built, Secretary Daniels says the government has never been able to reach satisfactory terms with patentees of other submarines than the Lake variety. Negotiations are in progress, however, by which the government may be able to adopt some of the more desirable features of other patterns.

The government would not be debarred from using the other submarine patents in case the United States became involved in war, however, according to Secretary Daniels. He admitted that the government would not hesitate to appropriate the submarine patents and use them in building its own submarines in time of war. Compensation would be given the patentees, of course, or they could resort to the courts—but after the government had received the benefit of submersible patents. The government, according to Secretary Daniels, would not hesitate to adopt such a policy as a matter of defense in a time of national peril, without regard to the contract and patent rights of patentees.

Secretary Daniels hopes that congress will eventually authorize construction by the government itself of all of its submarines. It is now building some on the Pacific coast, the only government plant at present that is equipped for submarine construction. These are of the oil-burning type.

"Speeding up" private contractors on government submarine contracts is another innovation promised by the secretary. He will insist that contracts given private concerns stipulate quicker delivery. The secretary believes that in the past contractors have been slow about completing the government craft. He cites the instance of the ill-fated F-4, which sank last March outside Honolulu harbor. This boat was only two years old, having been commissioned in 1913, but five years elapsed before congress authorized her construction and the date, in 1913, when she was delivered to the navy.

On the other hand, the Fore River Construction company of Massachusetts has just completed ten electric submersibles for one of the allies in the record time of eight months. They were ordered in January and are now lying finished in the shipyards at Quincy, Mass. By agreement with Charles M. Schwab, who took the order for one of the allies, the boats will be held in American waters until after the war.

PRISON CO-OPERATION

Two new interesting and important features have been added to the history of the convict problem in the United States—actual co-operation between state and federal authorities in the care and management of state convicts. The application on a large scale of the honor system of government to negro convicts. This work is about to be taken up by the authorities of Fulton county, Georgia, and the office of public roads of the department of agriculture. After a year's study of convict labor conditions throughout the country as applied to road building, J. E. Pennybacker, chief of the above division, and H. S. Fairbanks, highway engineer, who will be in actual charge of the work, have completed plans for the establishment of a portable road-building camp within the next few weeks.

Unlike most convict camps, the buildings are to be constructed on the portable plan, and models for use at exhibitions and country fairs have just been completed at the bureau. They are so arranged that the sides can be readily taken out and screens substituted, and besides the bunk rooms there will be the kitchens, showers and a recreation room. The sanitary work has been planned by Past Assistant Surgeon W. F. Draper of the public health service, and is patterned after the method employed in army camps.

There will be fifty convicts in the camp, who will do all the work of assembling the buildings and striking them whenever it is necessary to move. It is believed that one day will be sufficient to make or break camp, so carefully and ingeniously have the buildings been constructed. Officials claim a threefold merit for their program: First, it is beneficial mentally, morally and physically for the convicts; second, it saves the state money by the introduction of more scientific methods of convict labor and of road construction; and third, it helps the state and the country by turning out a greater number of miles of good roads every year than have been built heretofore.

TOMATO KETCHUP

Selected ripe tomatoes. The extra juice, small and broken fruit, which will not do for canning, may be used if they are sound and red. Any green or yellowish parts of fruit will make a ketchup inferior in flavor and color, and not good for market. Use whole spices tied loosely in a bag while cooking and remove before bottling to prevent darkening the product, caused by ground spices. This does not apply to red pepper, which helps to give a bright red color. The pulp of sweet Spanish pepper or the ground Hungarian paprika may also be used to give color and flavor. Remove seeds from sweet red pepper, chop and add 1 cup of this pepper and 2 medium-sized onions to 1 gallon tomatoes before cooking.

Cook the tomatoes thoroughly, put through a colander or sieve, saving all pulp, and measure. For every gallon of pulp use the following:

Two tablespoonfuls salt, 4 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon mustard (powdered), 1 pint good vinegar, 1 level tablespoon each of whole allspice, cloves, cinnamon and pepper, 2 small red peppers sliced and seed removed.

After putting tomatoes through the colander add ground spices and spice bag, and cook for one and one-half hours, or until nearly thick enough, then add pepper and cook until thick. Rapid cooking (being careful not to scorch the ketchup) will give a better color than slow cooking. The finished product should be a fine bright red.

Pour the ketchup at once into hot sterilized bottles. If any quantity is made for sale, set the hot bottles at once into a vessel of hot water, having a false bottom in it to prevent breakage, put the cork stoppers in loosely and process at boiling point for 30 minutes. Drive the corks in tightly and when cool dip mouth of bottle into melted paraffin, or cover stopper with sealing wax.

SPICED CUCUMBER SALAD

Vegetables—5 pounds sliced cucumbers (about 2 dozen), one-half cup chopped onion, 2 cups chopped sweet red pepper, 1 cup chopped sweet green pepper.

Spiced Vinegar—1 quart vinegar, one-half cup sugar, 1 tablespoon each of salt, powdered sugar, and mustard seed; 2 teaspoons celery seed (crushed), 1 tablespoon each of whole pepper, cloves, cinnamon and allspice.

Mix the cucumber and onion and sprinkle alternate layers with salt, using three-fourths cup for the whole. Let stand over night. Next morning drain vegetables and freshen for one to two hours in clear water.

Put all whole spices in cheesecloth bag, except the celery seed and mustard seed, which are put in loose. Add spices to the vinegar and boil for five minutes. Drain the vegetables well and pour the hot spiced vinegar over them. Let stand 24 hours. Pack, distributing the pepper well and flattening some of the cucumber slices against the face of each jar. Fill the jars with same vinegar and paddle well to remove all bubbles. Garnish with strips of red pepper or pieces of spice. Process 12-ounce or pint jars for 15 minutes at 180 degrees Fahrenheit.

GREEN TOMATO PICKLE

One gallon green tomatoes, one-half dozen large onions, 3 cups brown sugar, one-half lemon, 3 pods of red pepper, 3 cups vinegar, 1 tablespoon whole black pepper, 1 tablespoon of white cloves, 1 tablespoon whole allspice, 1 tablespoon of celery seed (crushed), 1 tablespoon mustard seed and 1 tablespoon ground mustard.

Slice the tomatoes and onions thin. Sprinkle over them one-half cup salt and let stand over night in a crock or enameled vessel. Tie the pepper, cloves, allspice and celery seed in a cheesecloth bag. Slice the lemon and chop 2 pepper pods very fine. Drain the tomato and onion well. Add all seasoning except 1 pepper pod to the vinegar, then add the tomato and the onion. Cook for one-half hour, stirring gently at intervals to prevent burning. Remove spice bag to prevent darkening product. Pack in 10-ounce jar and garnish with slender strips of the red pepper, placing them vertically on the opposite sides of each jar. Process for 15 minutes.

EMBROIDERED HATS

The hand-embroidered black velvet hat which made its appearance very early in the season is not a Paris importation, as some houses would lead you to believe. It was originated in New York by a Fifth avenue specialty shop, about the middle of June. The designer did not know at the time whether it would take or not.

First of the models was a black velvet sailor shape embroidered on the brim and crown with daisies—yellow daisies with brown centers and white daisies with yellow centers. The designer put it in his window, and within three weeks these hats were copied in machine embroidery and shown everywhere.

One beautiful model is embroidered on top in daisies and has two ostrich plumes coming from under the brim and falling over the hair in the back.

Any woman who embroiders could easily get her milliner to mark off on velvet the shape of the pieces required for crown and brim and do her own embroidering, getting the milliner to build the hat afterward, and could have something really refined, chic and individual, not to mention the saving in expense of such a hat had the embroidery been done by the milliner. Seventy-five dollars is the price asked by the originator. The hand-embroidered hats will never become common.

A quill stripped of its flukes is called a feeler, and is very smart on tailored hats.

Soutache braid is being used on sailor hats of velvet. A blue velvet model shows Vandykes of white soutache on the upper side of the brim with two feelers crossed smartly at the front.

Jet finds a place in the autumn trimmings. Jet slides and buckles and a few jet buttons are used, says the Washington Herald, and on the new hats there are many jet ornaments.

But is not this nation in greater need, right now, of merchant ships than of more battleships?

PLANS FOR DEFENSE

(Special Service to Evening News) WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 16.—President Wilson took the first definite personal steps today toward increasing the nation's defense, when he arranged for a joint conference on Sept. 28 between himself and Secretary Daniels and the chairman of the house committee on defense.

Consul Keena also reports that Germany's glass trade with Chile is all broken up by the war. Although it panes us to learn this we cannot refrain reminding the German glass-makers that "people who live in glass houses shouldn't declare war."

EAGLE ROCK

A. A. House, the well known cement contractor, left last Friday for the sanitarium at Hollywood where he hopes to regain his health.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Allen of Park avenue had as their guest their cousin, Mr. Kinder of Penn.

The choir of the Methodist church is planning to give a cooked food sale next Saturday the receipts of the same to go in payment on the new piano purchased and placed in the church last week by the choir.

Miss Lillian Walker of Missouri, who is the kindergarten teacher here is making her home with Mrs. Fulton of Virginia avenue.

The new books for the Eagle Rock City library arrived and have been placed on the shelves for the public inspection and use. Next week the books belonging to the county library will be gathered up and sent back. It will be known hereafter as the Eagle Rock library and is no longer controlled by the county.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Crow of Harvard Park will leave this week for San Diego to attend the exposition. They will make the trip by auto.

The Misses McLean of Lawrence avenue have rented their house to college students and Miss Katherine McLean will spend the winter months in Washington with relatives, while her sister, Miss Mary, will live with Mrs. Schofield of Eagle avenue.

The many friends of Miss Beryl Jeter were very glad to see her back again after a long absence, spent in the east where she went for her health. She has regained her health and is back again with her music work.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Coats of Phoenix, Arizona, came last week and have rented a house here where they will make their home during school, as three of their children are attending school in Eagle Rock. Mrs. Coats is a sister of Mrs. Harden's and they visited the Harden family last week and decided to remain here.

A house is being erected on West Adams avenue which, when completed, will be occupied by a club of Occidental students.

School opened Monday with a large number enrolled and the buildings were filled with boys and girls. More seats and desks had to be put in and more books sent for to supply the extra large attendance. Mrs. French is the teacher of the east end school which is located in the old bank building on Colorado and Townsend; and the west end school is located in the bungalow on Broadway, a little beyond where that street and Colorado join. Miss Pendexter is the teacher of this school. All the children living in the central district attend the central school.

Last Sunday morning Rev. Conaway of Sycamore avenue preached his birthday sermon and greatly pleased the large congregation. He is a local preacher and it was his 60th birthday anniversary. Services were held in the tent next to the Methodist church.

Death of Harriet A. Huntley

On Tuesday evening of this week the Grim Reaper called one of Burbank's oldest and most respected citizens, when Mrs. Harriet A. Huntley passed away at 7:15 o'clock, at the home of her son, J. H. Huntley, at 40 North Magnolia street.

At the time of her death the deceased was aged 75 years and 4 days. She was born in Sandusky, Ohio, September 9, 1840, and was married to John Huntley at the age of twenty, her husband preceding her to the great beyond in 1902. To this union six children were born, of whom but two live to survive their mother. In 1874 the deceased moved with her husband to Santa Ana, Cal., in which city they resided for two years, when they moved to Downey, where they lived until 1893 when they moved to Burbank. Mrs. Huntley became identified with the Christian church in her early girlhood and remained an active member until her death. She left to mourn her loss one son, J. H. Huntley of Burbank, a daughter, Mrs. Annie E. Brittle of Downey, Cal., seven grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

The deceased was well known and liked in Burbank where she made many friends and was of a cheerful and sunny disposition, although practically an invalid for the last two years of her life. The funeral services were held by Rev. Davenport at the Burbank Christian church Thursday forenoon at 10 o'clock with short services at the grave at 2 p. m. Interment was made at the Downey, Cal., cemetery.

STORIES OF THE WAR

How the news of the big war penetrated to the Arctic circle and rooted out an Englishman who has just now returned to fight was told in London recently.

Henry James, a subaltern, was 200 miles north of Edmonton when one day an Indian passed his camp and volunteered the information that a big war was on.

"That's all right," James answered. "Mexico and the United States are at it."

The Indian, however, insisted that it was a bigger fight.

James later struck camp and journeyed to the nearest trading post, where he learned that England had been at war for months. He immediately returned to Canada and sailed for England.
